

Historias con Condicionales

Historia 1: El Experimento de Ciencias

In the science lab, students often do experiments.

If you mix vinegar and baking soda, you get bubbles.

If you heat ice, it melts.

Today, the teacher tells them: "If you finish your work on time, I will give you extra points."

The students are excited. They know that if they don't follow the instructions, they will make mistakes.

Historia 2: El Sueño de la Lotería

Carlos always dreams about winning the lottery.

If he won a million dollars, he would buy a house for his family.

If he had more money, he would travel around the world.

Sometimes he says: "If I were rich, I would help poor children."

His wife laughs and tells him, "If I were you, I would save the money instead of spending it."

Historia 3: El Vuelo Perdido

Last month, Ana missed her flight to Los Angeles.

If she had left home earlier, she would have caught the plane.

If she had checked the schedule carefully, she would not have missed it.

She was sad because she lost an important job interview.

"If I had gone to that interview," she thought, "I would have gotten the job."

Her friend comforted her and said, "Don't worry, if you had not tried, you wouldn't have learned this lesson."
